

From: Sindre Jacobsen <sindre@dance.no>

Date: onsdag 14. februar 2001 10:19

>Hello

>

>Senter for Dansekunst (The Center for the Art of Dance) is a national >information office and proficiency center for dance. The center was >established in March 1994 by the Norwegian Ballet Association, and was >funded by the Ministry of Cultural Affairs.

>Senter for Dansekunst is primarily supplying information and services to >everyone working with or taking an interest in dance, including the public >and the media.

>

>As for your inquiry i recomend that you contact the following theatres:

>

><http://www.blackbox.no/>

>

><http://www.bit-teatergarasjen.no/>

>

>

>Sindre Jacobsen

>

>-----

>sindre jacobson

>sindre@dance.no

>-----

>senter for dansekunst

>(the norwegian center for the art of dance)

>tollbugt. 19

>0152 oslo - norway

>t: +47 22 41 27 00

>f: +47 22 41 27 01

>

>kunstnett norge - dans-redaksjonen

><http://www.kunst.no/Dans>

>dans@kunst.no

>

Dear Sindre,

Ah-ha! Thank you for the information, and thank you for your kind response to me. How embarrassing for me! In my effort to "translate" your web site, I had reached conclusions that were quite incorrect regarding the function of Senter for Dansekunst, and had determined that you were a presenter of international acts! Do you get many silly English-only speakers visiting your web site, and coming to the same conclusions? My apologies -- I am a product of the American public school system. We barely learn to speak our own language, much less the languages of others (although I attempting to teach myself Spanish at the moment.)

Thank you for including the two web sites for the two theaters. I will look at these today. Hopefully, they will translate into bookings! Best Wishes,

[REDACTED]
Binghamton, NY 13902
[REDACTED]